THE PLAINT OF A SOREHRAD.

What T. A. Davis Knows About Constatency.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS. CHARLESTON, October 7.

Signitude in this city that because I was defrauded out of my nomination which Big.—It is removed in this city that because I was defrauded out of my nomination which I received, and which was openly declared by the president of the convention of the True Republican party, in Hibernian Hall, on the 26th of September, (by the most infamous of mankind, a man who, by breaking through all ties of gratitude and of common humanity, and trampling on the pledges and authority of the Republican party, procured his nomination,) that I have been operating with the Mackey faction. And now, for the satisfaction of those in this community, who have heretofore given me credit for consistency, I will state that, although by my friends I was assured, that their protection would prove a defence sgainst all my enemies in that convertion, to which promises they proved unfaithful, and although by the determined efforts of some of my friends to elevate others who were far less deserving their support, tried to put it out of my power to deserve anything at at the hands of the Republican party; yet I have stood my ground, because my special regard for the Republican party and its principles prevents objurgation at present. Far be it from me to cherish in my breast a spirit of political prejudice, nor would I try to excite it in others. On the contrary I intend to operate with the True Republican party, whether I profit thereby or not. I shall not allow myself to be controlled by passion or prejudice, but shaff at all times be governed by consistency as I always have been. T. A. Davis.

THE NEW YORK MAYORALTY.

Memination of Mr. William Butler Duncan.

The citizens of New York, naturally enough take a deep interest in the municipal election which comes off next month, and, already, several gentlemen of high position have been spoken of in connection with the office of mayor. The last of these is Mr. Wm. Butler Duncan, of the firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co., whose qualifications are explained in the Herald and World of Wednesday. The former Herald and World of Wednesday. The former paper speaks of Mr. Duncan as follows:

We now desire to place before the citizens of New York a name which cannot fall to commend itself at once to their favor—the name of a gentleman whose high qualifications for the office will not be questload. It is that of William Butler Duncan, of the well known banking-house of Duncan, Sherman & Co. There is such eminent fitness in this nomination that Tammany should make it at once and strive earnestly to induce Mr. Duncan to accept. We know of no other citizen who would be as acceptable from every point of view. Mr. William Butler Duncan's name has been identified for years with the Reform movement. He is not a Reformer of yesterday, but a gentleman who has steadily and persistently striven to promote the cause of pure and honest government. He is associated with one of the most successful banking houses in the world, and in this business it is well known that dilligence, ability, a thorough knowledge of men, strict integrity and a character that cau command public confidence are the essentials of success. Mr. Duncan has travelled extensively abroad, and is familiar with the police of foreign capitals as well as with the wants and interests of New York. His enterprise and liberal views have been shown in the management of his private business. He would bring to the discharge of his public dutes the qualities that have given his house world wide reputation and credit. He never held a political office in his life, is free from all political ites and independent of all politicians. He would harmonize all city departments, and be in fact as well as in name the head of the city government. There is no single point upon which the election of William Butler Duncan could be objected to, and Tammany should tender him the nomination without s day's delay, and thus close the door against all political bargains and personal intrigues. The people have the right to demand such a tomination as this at the hands of the regenerated and reforme paper speaks of Mr. Duncan as follows: such a nomination as this at the hands of the regenerated and reformed Democracy; and we warn Tammany that it will be fatal to healtate or refuse to make it. Last year the Democracy as an organization was the enemy of reform. This year it must prove the thoroughness of ta purification by becoming its leader.

The World announces that Mr. Duncan will accept the nomination, and says: We have no other citizen who combines such an assemblage of qualifications for mayor as Mr. Duncan. His administrative capacity is of the highest order; his honor and integrity are attested by many years' financial rity are attested by many years' financial transactions of the largest scope, which have won for him an envisible reputation on both continents; though never an active politician, he has always been distinguished for patriotic public spirit; there is no man living of more generous asympthics. public spirit; there is no man living of more generous sympathies, or more genial and popular manners; and he is admirably fitted for the social duties and the interchange of courtesies which shed justre upon high official station.
